

Planetary Game 2006 - Blessing

Couple Blessing at the Planetary Game 2006

The Planetary Game is a variant of the Transformation Game can involve large groups in the game process. In November 2006 we played the Planetary Game in the Findhorn Foundation Community. Group activities like singing and meditating together are usually happening as part of the game. In the evening of the 16th. of November the whole group of game participants (about 90 people) blessed a couple that is living in our community. While the two people where standing in the centre of the hall, the group was guided through a short meditation by one of the game facilitators and then asked to send their love and blessings to the couple on the floor. The whole event started at 8pm and lasted for about 7 to 10 minutes.

When I was analyzing the RNG data later on, I discovered an interesting change in the cumulative deviation between 8pm (the 1 hour mark in the plot below) and 8:15. The curve is showing clearly less "zig zag" during this time interval. It is not possible to give a scientific rock-solid interpretation here, but I find the observation remarkable.
